If we are not mistaken, and we know we are not, the Commonwealth is the party mistaken. No one in this section ever tried to read Judge Campbell out of the Republican party. Although he does not agree with the body of the Republican party on the currency question, and makes no pretensions in that direction, he is nevertheless respected by its members as a man honest in his sentiments and bold in his utterance of them, and the Commonwealth's pretty little speech so far as it makes any point against the Republicans of this district falls to the ground. Judge Campbell is for a single standard, and that gold, and for a currency based on interconvertible three-sixty-five bonds, but will admit silver under a free coinage act. We think we are not misquoting him. Now the Republicans of this section are not only for gold and silver, but the present kind of currency, only in an inly organized. Wonderful Lack of Sagacity.

The statement is made in Massachu-setts that Butler has paid Kearney at least $1,000 for services rendered in the canvess. Two checks for $500 each have been paid by a bank in Lowell, and the payment has been admitted by the directors. This is a curious instance of Butler's lack of sagacity in this canvass. He could much bet-ter have afforded to pay Kearney $1,000 to keep out of the State.—New York
